MASSIVE ENTERTAINMENT PRODUCTION CAMPUS OPENS IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE

Worldwide Stages Announces Grand Opening of 320,000 Square Foot, 38 Acre Complex for Music, Film, and Broadcast Production Minutes from Nashville (Music City USA), Tennessee

[Nashville, TN]: Worldwide Stages LLC (WWS) announced the opening of its massive entertainment complex – located just South of Nashville (Music City, USA), Tennessee, in nearby Spring Hill. WWS has already provided state-of-the-art facilities to multiple facets of the entertainment industry including tour rehearsal facilities for musical stars, production facilities for diverse content creators to produce live-streaming events, music videos, commercials, episodic television series, and feature films.

"It feels like opening 'Disneyland', but for entertainment production professionals and A-list stars," said Kelly Frey, CEO and President of WWS. "The first word we hear from artists and production companies visiting our facility is 'Wow.' Forget about the warehouses and industrial soundstages of the past. WWS is more like a five-star hotel venue that happens to have the space A-list performers and international production companies need to produce their entertainment content securely and in comfort."

WWS acquired the former world headquarters of Saturn and invested millions of dollars into a complete renovation.

The vast property includes:

- Acres of parking
- Production suites
- Multiple soundstages
- Grand lobbies and atriums for industry events
- Thousands of square feet of luxurious green rooms
- Private 70-seat theater for screening dailies or intimate performances
- Fully stocked Grade-A kitchen that can feed hundreds of onsite guests
- Comprehensive safety and security program with facial recognition cameras and software driven access to exterior and interior doors

"Tennessee is home to a thriving entertainment industry, and we support companies such as WWS that invest in growing our state's footprint in entertainment," said Stuart McWhorter, commissioner of the Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development.

"The opening of WWS signals Tennessee's trending growth and competitiveness in the entertainment sector on both a local and national level," said Bob Raines, Executive Director for the Tennessee Entertainment Commission. "WWS will not only leverage Tennessee's internationally renowned music industry, but also service the influx of television and motion picture professionals interested in producing the next generation of entertainment content."

"Spring Hill is excited to welcome WWS and its CEO, Kelly Frey, into our community," said Jim Hagaman, Mayor of Spring Hill. "This investment from WWS will create an impact far beyond job creation and economic growth."
